President's Perspective

As much as I enjoy the commencement ceremony and awarding degrees to our newest graduates, I actually appreciate more visiting with our students beforehand and with their families afterward.

Before the ceremony, the students are gathered in the cafeteria dressed in their regalia. They are visiting with their friends and talking about the great times they had at Tusculum. The atmosphere is a mix of relief of finishing, pride in accomplishment and excitement for what follows. As I visit with the students I ask them what is next, and they tell me about their jobs, promotions and graduate school plans. Without a doubt, they are now career-ready professionals, and their Tusculum education has opened doors of opportunity for them.

After the ceremony, I talk to parents and children of those who walked the stage, and they express boundless pride in their graduate. I can see in the eyes of graduates' children that they have been inspired by their parents' example of hard work and accomplishment. Our first-generation students have paved the way for their next generation. While I talk with the families I also discover how many obstacles and challenges our students overcame to complete and graduate. That is inspiring!

Go Pioneers!

Word of the Week

“For you yourselves know how you ought to follow our example. We were not idle when we were with you.” – 2 Thessalonians 3:7 (NIV)

Remember tonight's community band Christmas concert

Another great to enter the Christmas break is with the sounds of the Tusculum University Community Band. The group will hold a free Christmas concert tonight in the Marilyn duBrisk Theatre of Annie Hogan Byrd Fine Arts Center.

Dr. David Gonzalez, Tusculum's director of bands, will conduct the ensemble, which will play Christmas classics and other songs applicable to the season. Tusculum students who are part of the university's band will perform as part of this group.

You can read more about the performance in this news release.

Join us as we honor a key donor

Andrew Johnson Bank has been a tremendous supporter of Tusculum University through the years, and the financial institution's gifts have been a key factor in helping us achieve our mission.

Most recently, the bank was an important contributor to the support of fitness and wellness initiatives on the lower floor of the Scott M. Niswonger Commons. This included the wellness center at the bottom of the steps as well as the athletic training area where the pool used to be located. These enhanced facilities have significantly enhanced the health, well-being and strength of students, faculty and staff.

On Wednesday, Dec. 14, at 4 p.m., we will honor the bank for its generosity. We will name the area outside the athletic training area the Andrew Johnson Bank Lobby.

We invite all Tusculum family members to join us and help us thank the bank for its philanthropy.

If you have questions, please contact Kim Kidwell, associate vice president of institutional advancement, at kkidwell@tusculum.edu or 423-636-7303.

Take stock of many exciting developments at Tusculum in the fall semester!

Now that we are out of the day-to-day busyness of the fall semester, we can take time to look back at some of the many positive developments that occurred.

The Office of Campus Safety will operate 24/7 throughout the break.

The cafeteria schedule between semesters

The cafeteria will reopen Monday, Jan. 9, beginning with breakfast.

Library hours for the rest of the calendar year

Below are the hours of the Thomas J. Garland Library for the remainder of the calendar year. The special hours on Thursday are to accommodate a Christmas breakfast for the library staff.

- Tuesday, Dec. 13-Wednesday, Dec. 14 –8 a.m.-5 p.m.
- Thursday, Dec. 15 – 10:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

- Saturday, Dec. 17-Sunday, Jan. 1 – closed

Health clinic is closed until the spring semester

The Ballad Health Tusculum University Clinic is closed for the fall semester and will reopen Wednesday, Jan. 18.

The clinic is located in Room 008 of the Meen Center. No appointment is necessary. Patients can self-pay or use their health insurance. Students can apply for payment aid, if necessary.

Conserve energy during the break

Before leaving for the Christmas break, faculty and staff members should remember to conserve energy by taking the following steps:

- Turn off your computers, monitors, printers, space heaters and lights
- Reduce the temperature in your work area when you leave for the day

Even offices that will operate should take these measures during the hours when they will not operate. This conservation mindset will help us reduce our energy consumption while employees are away from the office.

Airport shuttles are available

Students who plan to fly end of the fall semester are eligible to receive shuttle service from the Greeneville campus. Tusculum provides shuttles to the Tri-Cities and Knoxville airports in Tennessee and the Asheville, North Carolina, airport.

Student-athletes need to sign up with their coaches, and all other students should sign up in the Office of Student Affairs. Shuttles will be available through Wednesday, Dec 14, from 10 a.m.-7 p.m.

For the spring semester, shuttle signups will begin Monday, Jan. 3. Shuttles will be available from Tuesday, Jan. 10-Tuesday, Jan 17. Shuttles will run from 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. We encourage students to book flights that meet these periods, as shuttles may not be available outside these windows. If students arrive after the 7 p.m. shuttle, they should plan for overnight lodging and utilize the next morning's shuttle.

Students who are not athletes need to email studentaffairs@tusculum.edu to schedule and confirm a shuttle time.

Students will be charged $25 to use the shuttle service. The cost will be added to their student account. Students do not need to pay the shuttle driver.

Register for spring and summer courses!

Students who have not registered for the spring and summer semesters should allocate time as soon as possible during the Christmas break to take care of this important task! This will ensure they remain on track for their degree and do not find a class they want to take already filled. Students need to register via Self Service.

Students need to remember:

- They must meet with their advisor before they can choose their courses.
- They must not have a business office hold on their student account because they will not be able to register for courses until they resolve it.

Students with questions can email the Registrar's Office at registrartu@tusculum.edu.

Students should take care of their book purchases for the spring semester

Another important task for students to complete during the break is to purchase their textbooks online for the spring semester.

The process is simple. Students visit tusculum.textbookx.com and log in with their @lab account username and password.

The online bookstore is now open.

New director of the Center for the Arts at Tusculum already busy

Rouja Green, a professional with 13 years of experience running a music and art school, was recently selected to serve as director of Tusculum's Center for the Arts, and she has hit the ground running.

You might have met Green if you have visited Annie Hogan Byrd Fine Arts Center for one or more of the events recently held there. She has already demonstrated her talent and know-how by enhancing the ambience at some of these events.

She has also begun partnering with the leaders and faculty members associated with Tusculum's arts programs as well as working with the Communications and Marketing Department to spread the word about the many exciting events that have taken place in the latter stages of the fall semester.

Green will ensure all fine arts programming presented by Tusculum is logistically sound. She will share and build on the strengths of these initiatives through fundraising, marketing, communication, presentation, design, teaching and advocacy in collaboration with others at the university.

The Center for the Arts is already heavily engaged in planning for the 2023 calendar year and has some exciting activities coming. Further information about these events will be shared later. In the interim, you might want to learn more about the broad array of skills Green brings to the table, including 13 years of experience running a music and art school.

Green has also worked as an entrepreneur for nine years and has experience in team-building, leadership training, public speaking and coaching. She has organized and presented at multiple events on the East Coast and West Coast and in Europe.

Please read this news release about Green and welcome her when you see her on campus!

Graduation provided another chance to celebrate being Pioneers

We rejoiced Saturday, Dec. 10, as 139 students earned degrees from our university during graduation. The event was the culmination of a lot of work by our students and their faculty to become career-ready professionals.

Some of these students have now earned multiple degrees from Tusculum and will have an additional selling point as they enter the workforce or seek to advance in their current employment or pursue new opportunities.

We thank these alumni for choosing Tusculum and encourage them to return often and stay in touch with their alma mater.

You can read more about graduation in this news release and watch the ceremony if you were unable to attend. Photos from the event, taken by the Office of Communications and Marketing and student Ashley Howell, are available on Tusculum's Facebook page. The Communications and Marketing Department has also prepared a short video about the event.

Goodie bag drive-through offered fun and fellowship!

It was wonderful to see the faculty and staff members who joined us Monday, Dec. 12, for the goodie bag drive-through.

Whether they came by vehicle or walked up to the table in front of the Scott M. Niswonger Commons, we enjoyed sharing some neat treats and great conversation as we near the Christmas break. We are grateful to all of our servers who handed out the goodies and appreciate Chartwells for making some of the items.

Reliving the Midnight Breakfast through a television station

After the President’s Midnight Breakfast on May 4, we sent photos of the event to television stations in the Tri-Cities and Knoxville markets in case they wanted to broadcast a story about it.

WVLT, a station in Knoxville, liked the idea. You can watch the story at <https://www.wvlt.tv/video/2022/12/05/tusculum-university-hosts-annual-midnight-breakfast/>.
